

Abstract of the Disclosure

A cutting device includes a rotatable base defining a plurality of closed-sided, tooth sockets. A plurality of tooth assemblies are mounted within respective sockets. Each tooth assembly includes a tooth holder having a base-engaging portion adapted to fit into the socket, and a cutting tip projecting from the rotatable base for engaging and cutting an object.